PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume I will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, SEPT. 18, 1833.

☞ The Proclamation.—We give this document, as it should be, in our paper. As published last week, in several of our papers, it contained some material errors. One of these errors is the the placing the triangle between Diamond alley and Liberty and Market streets in two different wards, the west and east. This triangle belongs to the west ward only. This mistake could only have arisen out of a very careless reading of the act of assembly, passed at the last session of the legislature.

In McCully's district, also, a mistake occurs—at the last session of the legislature, the election in this district, was appointed to be held at James Conner's.

The Trade of Lake Erie.—The interesting account of the Mad River Rail Road, which we published yesterday, commenced with the following paragraph, which, we think, merits or requires some comment—

"Owing to the fortunate position of our city by nature, and the aids she has received from art and industry, it happens that almost every improvement that is made in the interior, whether in this or in the remoter states, redounds to the benefit of New York. All the canals and rail roads that are constructed, do, in effect, by their connection with existing means of communication, facilitate the conveyance of goods from this city to their places of consumption, and of the produce of the country in return. Hence it is, that the people of New York have a direct and palpable interest in giving encouragement to works of internal improvement, far beyond the local limits of our state."

The able editor of the Spectator speaks most complacently of the "fortunate position of that city," and remarks, very truly, indeed, as matters now stand, that almost every improvement that is made in "the interior, redounds to the benefit of New York." While we admit that this statement is well founded, just now, yet we must add that the New Yorker does not seem to have given to the subject thorough consideration—he does not seem to have distinctly ascertained why it is that such improvements as the Mad River Rail Road redound to the advantage of his city.

Twenty years ago there was no outlet from Lake Erie but the St. Lawrence; had the Mad River Rail Road and the Ohio Canal been executed at that time, they would, inevitably, have redounded to the advantage of Montreal or Quebec, because they were situated on the best rout of communication with the Ocean, and the trade of the Lake would have pursued that rout. The New Yorkers, however, actuated by that shrewd and enterprizing spirit which characterizes them, have made a better outlet—an outlet which is more direct, and situated in a more southern latitude, and which is open several weeks earlier and later, every year, than the St. Lawrence, and which, on these accounts, is preferable.

Lake Erie is one great reservoir for the reception, not only of the waters which are conducted to it by streams and canals, but, also, of the immense amount of produce which is conveyed to it, either by the natural or artificial routs of conveyance.—Here all this produce, the amount of which is already very large, and which must increase with the increase of population and of the facilities of transportation, is collected together, as a noble prize, worthy of the emulation and enterprize of the wealthy cities which are in a position to contend for it. Here it is, all collected in one great mass, and seems to cry out to the cities of Philadelphia, New York, and Baltimore, "win me and wear me,—which ever city opens to me the smoothest and pleasantest road to the Ocean will secure me. I am growing so large that this little Lake will soon be too narrow and contracted for me—open, then, your various routs of communication, and I will at once choose that which is best, and eagerly pursue my way to the broad Atlantic."

New York at present has the best channel of passage, and of course this great trade seeks this rout, not because nature has given that city advantages over Philadelphia, in the struggle for it, but because New Yorkers have been more enterprizing. Nature, indeed, has given Philadelphia precisely the same advantage over New York which the latter city possesses over Montreal and Quebec, viz. a longer summer, and longer continued navigableness of its waters.

Cleveland harbor is open several weeks earlier in the spring than Buffalo. This is a decisive advantage given to Philadelphia as a boon from nature. Let the capitalists of that city, then, complete a communication from Pittsburgh to the harbor, at the mouth of the Cuyahoga, and this immense trade will at once be secured to Philadelphia, simply because produce may, by that rout, be afloat on the Atlantic, before it can be stowed away in a canal boat at Buffalo. Complete this connection, and then the Philadelphia editors may, with great truth, adopt the language of the New York edtiors, and say, that "every improvement in the interior redounds to the advantage of" Philadelphia.

☞ The Prospect.—We had, last evening and night, a considerable fall of rain, and there is now an appearance of more. We confidently expect wet weather, and a rise of the river, within the ensuing week.

STEAM BOAT NAVIGATION.

Several articles have appeared in our paper in favor of applying to Congress, for an appropriation, to render the Susquehanna navigable for steam boats. Some persons may doubt of its practicability. A man would once have been thought a fit subject for the madhouse who should have thought of building a bridge over the Susquehanna. There is no doubt of the practicability of this project, and, as it is a national and not a state object, it should be done with national funds. A steam boat is at this moment running forty mile trips on the Susquehanna, more than one hundred miles above this place. This steam boat cost about $9,000, and was built by the Boston company, under the direction of an enterprizing Pennsylvanian, William P. Farrand, Esq., to tow arks of Bituminous Coal from the mines in Lycoming county to Muncey dam. This boat draws but 13 inches of water, and passes up ripples without any difficulty. Not long since, a committee from the North Branch was sent to view the operations of this boat, with a reference to establishing a company to run a similar one, from the mouth of the Lackawanna to the New York line. It is said they were perfectly satisfied of its practicability, and that application will be made to the Legislature next winter for the incorporation of a company to run steam boats from the Northern termination of the canal to the New York line.

Whoever will take the trouble to examine the report of Charles Treziyulny, a Pole by birth, who, as engineer, was employed by the State, to survey and report on the Susquehanna navigation in 1826, will not longer doubt that the funds of the General Government could soon bring steam boats from tide to Harrisburgh, and not only to Harrisburgh, but through the state of Pennsylvania.

Suppose damming the rivers should be thought impracticable from Middletown to tide, a steam boat canal could be made without as much lockage as the Welland Canal which cost about $2,000,000.

Is it not a great and national object to open a steam boat navigation from the ocean to the lakes?

What a diversion of trade that now passes thro' the Rideau Steam Boat Canal, 270 miles in length, from Lake Ontario to Montreal, would this make through the United States! What an incalculable advantage would such a channel of trade be, not only to the Atlantic, but to the Western States—such a project accomplished, Sloops and Steam Boats could load in Illinois, Michigan, and Ohio, and unlade at the wharves of the Atlantic cities. We understand that a public meeting will soon be holden in Harrisburgh on the subject, and we doubt not but a lively interest will soon be awakened throughout the whole of central Pennsylvania.—Harrisburgh Intel.

From the National Gazette.

We have files of the Jamaica Royal Gazette, and the Jamaica Courant, to the 21st ult., inclusive. The Courant of the 20th says—

"In the absence of all Foreign Intelligence, we are happy to state, that every thing is tranquil in the country. The negroes are awaiting with the utmost anxiety, the measures in progress by the British government. Whatever the result of the deliberations of the Imperial Parliament may be, the negroes are watching them as anxiously as we are. They say that the planters, 'their massas' may be ruined, but that they will be left without a friend to look after them, sick or well; and those who understand the ties which now exist between the master and slave, can only imagine the pain of a separation. At present, the master and slave are mutually dependant upon each other; the master is compelled by law to support his slave in sickness as well as in good health; but God help the poor friendless negro, when his former master has no further control over him. He will be without a home—without a nurse, and without a doctor to attend him. It may be true, that the negro's wants are but few, but from what sources are they to be supplied?

"At present our markets are well stocked with the production of our slaves; but when they are all free how are they to find a market for their provisions?—Further, how are they to be clothed?—The merchants will not trust the negroes for their common comforts—the doctors will not attend them while sick, and when they die they will be buried by their comrades, as no Parson will even render his aid in any community for services for which he is not to be remunerated! The result is evident—the well fed slave as a free man will sink into worthless insignificance, and the present race of hardy peasantry will be shortly unknown! The country will also be too poor to aid them by "poor laws," and the consequence may very easily be anticipated: cultivation will cease, and the Revenue of Great Britain will be minus Seven Millions annually!! We may well say that the people of England know not what they do, and they will soon find to their cost that they have destroyed the shadow of slavery without benefitting the slave. We have never advocated slavery in the abtract, but if those worthies who have been so much opposed to it, had seen it as it exists in this country, and contrasted it with the serfish servility of England, they would have given it in favor of the Colonies. In Scotland, not one hundred years ago, the proprietor of a few miserable acres, had the power of life and death on his own property, and sacrificed his tenants at his mere will and pleasure! Has such a tyrannical or barbarous system ever been known to exist in the British West Indies? Never! and we are proud to declare, that the man who would wantonly maltreat his dependent here, would be visited with the utmost vengeance of the law. Yet we have been reported and held up to public execration as tyrants and demi-savages! The truth, however, will soon appear, and the woful contrast between our present state, and what a few years will produce, will be a miserable monument of the folly of the mother country."

A most magnificent brick built chimney has just been completed by Mr. Livingstone, at the alkali works of Anthony Chapham, Esq. on the Tyne, a little below this town. It is the highest chimney in England, being 263 feet from the base, exceeding in height that of Muspratt's famous chimney at Liverpool by 38 feet, and St. Nicholas' steeple, in this town, by 69 feet. It is 27 feet diameter at the base, and 7 feet at the top, which is finished by a stone coping; contains upwards of half a million of bricks, and is computed to weigh nearly 2,000 tons. It is of first rate workmanship, beautifully perpendicular, and does honor to the builder and its spirited owner. On Tuesday last Mr. Chapham entertained a party of friends with a sumptuous repast at the bottom of the chimney, to the great delight of the party, who expressed their surprise and astonishment at the stupenduous work of art.—*Newcastle (Eng.) In Bulwer's England and the English, there is the following note.

"In an oration delivered at Philadelphia by Mr. Ingersoll, in 1832, the following fine passage occurs. Speaking of the religious spirit so rife throughout the States, the orator insists on religion as a necessary result of the popular power. 'Even Robespierre,' saith he,' in his remarkable discourse on the the restoration of public worship, denounced atheism as inconsistent with equality, and a crime of the aristocracy; and asserted the existence of a Supreme Being, who protects the poor and rewards the just, as a popular consolation, without which the people would despair. If there were no God, said he, we should be obliged to invent one. This fine sentiment bespeaks truly the sympathies of republican governments with that faith which the Author of Christianity brought into the world, laying its foundations on the corner stones of equality, peace, good will;—it would contradict all philosophy if this country were irreligious.' But Mr. Ingersoll errs in attributing that noble sentiment to Robespierre—it is a quotation from Voltaire: the thought runs thus, and is perhaps the finest Voltaire ever put into words—Si Dieu n'existoit pas, il faudroit l'inventer."

But Mr. Ingersoll does not err in attributing that noble sentiment to Robespeirre. The error is Mr. Bulwer's, who will find it in M. Thiers'" Historie de la Revolution Francaise," vol. 6, p. 18 and p. 245, where it is given as part of Robespierre's speech in the National Convention. M. Thiers is now one of the French ministry, among the ablest speakers of the Chamber of Deputies, and a man foremost among those distinguished in France for learning and reputation. His authority is unquestionable. There can be no doubt that Robespierre uttered the sentiment as quoted by Mr. Ingersoll; and the very point of his argument was to fetch such a sentiment from such a source. That Voltaire was father to the thought, may be true: but that is quite another thing. As to matter of fact Mr. Ingersoll is right; and although Mr. Bulwer may be likewise right, so far as Voltaire is concerned, yet our author is wrong when he undertakes to correct Mr. Ingersoll's citation of Robespierre.

Madame Bonpland.—Among the passengers in the packet ship Orbit, which has arrived at New York from Jamaica, is Madame Bonpland, now on her return to France, after a long absence, to join her relatives and friends. A Jamaica paper, received by the same vessel, in announcing her proposed departure from that island, says:—"Few women have ever undergone greater trials than this lady, and all must appreciate her motives, when they learn it was in the cause of a fond husband, who was imprisoned by the arbitrary Dr. Francia, in the dungeons of Paraguay. When she heard of his release, though debilitated and worn by fatigue and anxiety, her heart expanded with joy, her frame soon recovered its wonted vigor, and after many months spent in a fruitless endeavor to join him, she resolved on returning to France, with the hope of an early junction with the object of her affections. Madame Bonpland has kept a diary of the various incidents that have happened to her during her travels in the last six years, and we look forward to the publication of a work from her, which will faithfully delineate the character and habits of the various countries she has visited."

Pirate Captured.—Our readers, of course, recollect that the brig Mexican, of this port, was boarded by a pirate in September last, and robbed of twenty thousand dollars in specie, besides the property of the officers and crew, who were shamefully maltreated, and narrowly escaped a horrible death. We have now the satisfaction to be able to state the capture of the piratical vessel, with a part of her crew, although it is to be feared that none of the perpetrators of that outrage are among them.

Several months ago, the captain of an American vessel, being at the island of St. Thomas, near the coast of Africa, saw a schooner lying there, which he knew, from the description in the Salem Gazette, which he happened to have with him, to be the pirate which had robbed the Mexican. He showed the paper to the governor of the island, who was also satisfied of the identity of the pirate, but, before measures could be taken for his detention, he had sailed on a slaving expedition.

The brig Favorite, arrived at this port yesterday, brings information that some time after, while the British brig of war Curlew was lying at St. Thomas, a trading vessel arrived there from the coast of Africa, bringing information that the pirate was then in the river Nazareth. The Curlew immediately sailed in pursuit. The boats of the Curlew were sent up the river to capture them; but the crew, (with the exception of four, who had been shipped at St. Thomas, and were not on board the pirate when the Mexican was robbed,) succeeded in escaping to the shore, where they were protected by the natives. When the Curlew's boats boarded the pirate, they found a fire kindled around a barrel of powder, and a train laid to the magazine, but succeeded in extinguishing the flames without damage. They then set out to tow the pirates' vessel down the river, but, by some carelessness, she was blown up on the third day, and the purser of the Curlew and one man killed. These particulars were communicated to Mr. Wilson, first officer of the Favorite, by the sailing master of the Curlew, who came on board the F. at Annamatroe, about the 10th of July, and stated that the affair took place about three weeks before. It was thought possible the remainder of the pirate crew might yet be captured.—Salem Mercury.

More Forgery.—The New York Daily Advertiser, says:—"A very extensive fraud has recently been discovered in this city, whereby large sums have been obtained from the department at Washington by means of forged Pension Certificates. As the subject is undergoing an investigation it will be improper to state the case more fully at present. A person very respectably connected is supposed to be the individual who has been the author of the fraud. The whole subject will shortly be made public.

Bulls and Bears.—This is a phrase in use upon Exchange, and is applied to buyers and sellers of stock. There is more meaning in the terms than would at first be supposed. A bull is one who is to receive stock on a certain day at the stipulated price. He wishes to toss it up, so that on the day he is to receive it, it may be worth more than what he is to give for it. A bear is one who has agreed to deliver a stock at a certain price, and at a certain day; it is his interest to depress the value of the stock, so that he may deliver it at less cost to himself than the price he is to receive for it. He wishes to trample it down, for the differene will be in his favor.

The Enormous Tree.—The extraordinary production of nature, which arrived a few days since, will be exhibited in a day or two. It is to be furnished as a parlor, containing all the paraphernalia, such as a piano, sofa, chairs, mirrors, &c. It is also about 20 feet high, the interior hollowed out, and capable of containing 40 to 50 persons.—N. Y. Mer. Adv.

The Canal Commissioners of New York are now ready to pay off and cancel the state stock which is not redeemable until 1837. As an inducement to the holders of this stock to surrender it and receive payment therefor, four years before the period fixed for its redemption, the commissioners offer to pay a premium of five per cent. upon the five per cent. stock, and a premium of eight per cent. upon the six per cent. stock of 1837.—Balt. Amer.

The Ohio conferrence of the Methodist Episcopal Church, commenced at Cincinnati, on the 29th ult. Thirty seven applicants were admitted to the ministry on trial; fifteen were admitted in full connection; thirteen ordained elders. The increase in the church membership, during the past year, is 7,404.—Balt. Pat.

The Port Gibson Correspondent, a Mississippi newspaper, states that Mr. Poindexter has declined being a candidate for re-election to the United States Senate, in consequence of the condition of his health, intending, after the expiration of his term of services, to travel for a year or two. There will, therefore, be two Senators to be chosen at the next session of the Mississippi Legislature—one in the place of Mr. Poindexter, and the other in the place of Mr. Black, who has served out the term for which Judge Ellis was originally elected.

A Federalist, Mr. Dunlap, has been elected Governor of the State of Maine, and Mr. F. O. J. Smith, a Democrat, of the same party, has been elected Representative to Congress from the Portland District.—Nat. Gaz.

A New York paper, mentioning the execution of a criminal, observes—

"What can possibly draw a woman of refined feelings to such an exhibition, it is not easy to imagine? We should have supposed, if experience did not contradict it, that of all the places and scenes from which a delicate female could shrink with horror, it would be the execution of a human being."

It may be doubted, however, whether women of refined feelings, or delicate females, do ever appear at executions. The presumption as to refinement and delicacy, is against the females who do. [Can there be a doubt?]

Petrifactions.—Petrified ears of corn, impregnated with silver, copper, and other metals, have been found on heights where they do not grow. The trunk of a petrified tree has been found upon mount Stella, in the country of the Grisons, at 4,000 feet above the height where the shrubs grow. In Spain, near the tower of Mundai at an elevation of 1,500 feet obove the sea, there exists entire beds of petrified wood. The impressions of plants found in Europe generally, are those belonging to the tropical climate of India and America. The strata in the environs of Paris have furnished sixty genera of fossil animals. At Rotwick in Sweden, 300 feet ahove the sea, entire beds of fossil shells are found, also upon the summit of Mount Perdu, 10,578 feet high, and the tops of the Andes, 13,200 feet high, are covered with petrified oyster shells. Such are some of the facts showing that our globe has undergone great revolutions.

By the last accounts from South Carolina, it appears that the nullification candidates for Congress, Mr. Singleton, in competition with Mr. Mitchell, and Mr. Clownie, over Col. Williams, are elected, the former by a large majority.—Nat. Gaz.

The Washington Globe, of yesterday, threatens terrible discoveries. There are documents, it intimates, which shew that the administration of the Bank of the U. States have actually expended certain sums in causing to be printed and circulated replies to the various accusations brought against the Bank—a body of information useful and important for the People. The publisher of the National Gazette, who is a printer by profession, and had executed work for the Bank from its establishment, has been employed by it, with others, as usual; and ergo (according to the Globe), the editor has been corrupted! Those who are conscious of mercenary devotion will, of course, suppose venality to be general. Whatever disbursement the Bank has thus made in self defence, has been, and will continue to be sanctioned by the Stockholders and Congress. It was not only the right, but the duty of the Board. The Bank assailed as it has been on every side, through the press, will not cease, we trust, to use the same channel for that kind of vindication which disabuses and enlightens the public on one of the highest national interests. Congress is not likely to confirm the assumption that the President is "the government." That body will not concede to the President an exclusive property in "the funds of the government."—Nat. Gaz.

Boston, Sept. 12.

Mr. Webster's Speech at Pittsburgh.—After an unavoidable and unexpected delay of several days, the pamphlet edition of Mr. Webster's Address to the Citizens of Pittsburgh has been published. It will be found to be more satisfactory than the epitome which has appeared in the papers—though that sketch was as perfect, perhaps, as could have been expected, taken as it was, during the delivery, and without having been revised by the speaker.

The Anti Masonic State Convention assembled in this city yesterday, at the Representative Chamber, and were organized by the Choice of the Hon. John Baily of Dorchester for President; Benjamin Hallet of Barnstable, Thomas Chamberlin of Worcester, M. H. Ruggles of Troy, and Alphent Bigelow of Weston, for Vice Presidents; Benjamin F. Hallet of Boston, and Herman Atwell of Concord, Secretaries. Prayers were offered by the Rev. Mr. Pierpont.

A Halifax paper, of the 6th inst., states that the Bermuda Islands have been visited with tremendous thunder storms, which lasted for five or six days in succession, threatening the destruction both of property and human life. The injury sustained, appears, however, to have been less than might have been anticipated from such awful tempests.—Phila. Chron.

The Globe and the United States Bank.—It is thus that the "official Government Journal, at the seat of Government," carries on the war against the U. S. Bank.

From the Globe.

"It is a simple fact that the MAJORITY in the last Congress, favorable to the Bank, was made up of BRIBED and retained members."

Tuscumbia, August 24.

The Chicasaws are now receiving an annuity of 20,000 dollars. The specie was conveyed through this place a few days since in boxes containing, as we understand, one thousand dollars each. We learn from a gentleman who has just returned from the nation, that on counting the boxes, when they arrived at the Council House, one box was missing. Two persons have been suspected of the theft, but nothing definite with regard to it has been ascertained. The Agent, Col. Reynolds, has replaced the amount lost. He will doubtless use active measures to detect the thief.—North Albanian.

Bell's London Weekly Messenger (August 4th) thinks that Don Pedro, after having established his daughter on the throne of Portugal, will return to Brazil, with his fleet, in order to regain the imperial crown. As Don Pedro is something of a Quixote, this may happen; but no throne can endure on our continent.—Nat. Gaz.

A stone was recently found, in a lot, near Auraria, in Georgia, weighing between twenty and thirty pounds, with large particles of gold thickly interspersed in it from the size of a pepper corn to that of a marble. This is an unusual circumstance, gold being almost universally found in grains. The specimen is one of the richest ever seen, and has been broken up and sent to New York, the owner keeping the finest piece.

The supply of western flour at New York is now larger than it has been for a long time.—The demand is brisk and prices vary from $5 50 to $5 62 1-2. Some few lots are sought after, which bring an average of $5 65. There is no great wish among holders to sell, as a quicker demand and larger prices are expected.—Philadelphia Chron.

The late Earthquake was felt in several parts of North Carolina.

The inspections of the week comprise 9 hhds. and 297 bbls., all received by wagons.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞WELCH MEDICAMENTUM☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,
From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.
Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
